

Sentiment Analysis in Social Media

---

Sentiment analysis is the process of identifying opinions and emotions in text data.

A case study on Twitter shows how sentiment analysis can detect public mood regarding political events, product launches, and crises. Using NLP models, companies can monitor brand reputation, identify customer needs, and take proactive action. Challenges include sarcasm detection and multilingual data.