Text Summarization Techniques

Text Summarization condenses long pieces of text into shorter versions while preserving meaning.

There are two main approaches: extractive summarization (selecting key sentences) and abstractive summarization (generating new text).

Applications include news aggregation, academic research, and business intelligence.